SYNOPSIS

One by one, members of the Chortelby Village Hall committee are coming to a sticky end, but are they accidents or something more sinister?

There are plenty of suspects, including: grumpy Harry Knott, the caretaker; identical twins, Olivia and Oliver Truscott-Pratt and Chair of the committee, Eleanor Wagstaff - even local vicar, the Reverend Toby Bishop is in the frame.

In charge of the investigation is the spectacularly incompetent D.I. Twigg. Thankfully, crime novelist Agatha Crusty (pronounced 'Croosty') has come to visit her niece, Alice, so is on hand to give the Detective Inspector a much-needed helping hand.

With plenty of laughs as the deaths pile up, this is a genuine murder mystery with an ingenious plot that will tax your little grey cells!
